SINCE the late Empress Dowager of China perceived "the handwriting on the wall" and recognised that if the Empire was to continue to exist intact, some form of constitutional government must be conceded, a truly wonderful change has come over the thoughts of the governing classes in the country. Not the least important indication of this is to be found in the recent declaration of policy made by the aged Prince intercourse with the wide world-now recognised, thanks to modern education, to be much bigger and far more important than it was the fashion to believe in China in the last century—must continue to grow, and so the old conservative policies must be replaced by others of a progressive character-"Our country's finance, interior affairs, industries, communications, judicature, military defences, the affairs of the Dependencies and much else, " he says " cry aloud for reform, and none can be neglected." The Prime Minister, however, points out that to accomplish all these reforms enormous funds are needed, and that the country's present financial capacity is not commensurate with its responsibilities in this connection. Hence, as he very rightly says, financial reform must receive first consideration, and this will consist of the readjustment of taxation, improvements in tariffs, in the banking system and in currency. Hand in hand with these reforms there must be others, encouraging the production of wealth,-agricultural, industrial and commercial—and for this purpose it is essential that attention should be paid to the development of communciations. There is a clear perception of what is needed, and it marks a definite step in the progress of China when we get an enlightened policy of this nature categorically laid down by the Prime Minister. The Chinese Press wells come and approve the policy enunciated. The only criteism we have observed is that the Prime Minister has explicitly relieved himself of responsibility for the execution of the programme. "When the Prime Minister spoke of financial matters he dismissed that subject with the remark that the Minister of Finance has made a special study of these questions and may soon find the means of giving effect to this policy. When he speke of economic development, he made a similar observation regarding the Minister of Agriculture, Industry and Commerce. Where, then, does the responsibility of the Premier in these matters come in?" The answer is that the Prime Minister's responsibility consists in seeing that the Government Departments are working steadily along the broad lines of the policy he has laid down, and with the right men in the right place, and given a free hand to develop well-matured plans we ought to see substantial progress made in the next few years with the work of putting the affairs of the empire on a sounder basis. In this connection it is a hopeful and encouraging sign that there is greater willingness shown in high quarters to receive advice from foreign sources, and a disposition to take competent foreigners into the Government service as advisers, as Japan did in the early days of her reformation. With a Government clearly recognising the

The Causeway Bay assault case came on for hearing before Mr. F. A. Hazeland at the Magistracy yesterday afternoon, when Alfred Walters. Chief Engineer of the French steamer Charles Hardouin, summoned Theodore Braun, of the losing his way at Glasgow. Valentine met China Sugar Refinery Co., on charges of assault, killing a chicken, and using abusive language The defendant brought a cross-summons for assault against Mr. Walters and his wife.

meet them, sound progress ought not only Mr. J. H. Gardiner appeared on behalf of the original complainant, and Mr M. M. Reader Harris) of Mesers. Wilkinson & Grist) represented Mr. Braun.

A boy named Dixon gave evidence on behalf of plaintiff, stating that he heard Braun offer the ricsha coolie fifty cents to come back and run his vehicle over the chickens. Witness spoke to seeing Brann strike Walters, who staggered back. Then Mrs. Walters appeared on the scene. She pushed defendant away. whereupen he struck her.

Plaintiff's amah was called in support of his statement.

P.C. Clark spoke to seeing a ricaha coolie running over the Polo Ground and calling out policeman." The coolie came to him and pointed towards Moreton Terrace, whither witness and another constable proceeded. On the way he noticed that two people were scuffling, but he was too far off to identify them. When he arrived on the scene he found Braun was bleeding from a cut on his ear, and complainant was standing near by with a stick in his hand. Heasked defendant how he came by the outear, and Walters said that hestruck defendant. Complainant handed him the stick. Witness picked up the dead chicken.

Mr. Gardiner said this concluded the case for the complainant, and asked in view of the evidence of P.C. Clark being challenged with reference to the stick that he be allowed to call His Worship consented, and the hearing was adjourned.

THE LAND LOTTERY AT SHANGHAI

Many in Hongkong and the southern coast ports will be interested in the following note which we extract from the N.-C. Daily News:-With, perhaps, no great surprise but, we believe, with general satisfaction it will be learnt that the projected land lottery of which so much was heard a few weeks ago is not to take place. Early in the present month, we understand, the Spanish Consul-General withdrew from the Real Estate Syndicate the licence under which its enterprise was being prosecuted; and this came aboard and battened down the crew. They been followed by the cancelling of the option which, as announced in the Syndicate's advertisements, had been obtained by it over the property which was to form over the head with a revolver. They made off the prize of the lottery. In these circumstances the promoters of the undertaking have no resource but to recognize in advance what must otherwise, sooner or later, have been brought to their notice yet more forcibly, namely, that the whole business was a legal and practical impossibility. As we have said, we believe that this conclusion will be the one most acceptable to the best sense of the community. Had the lottery been persisted in, there could have been but one result, disappointment to promoters and ticket-holders, and, what would be worse, an open co: flict giving rise to inevitable scandals. And of such as these Shanghai has assuredly had more than enough.

LONDON, July 26th.

In the House of Commons yesterlay at Piggott) and the Puisne Judge (Mr. H. H. J. question time Mr. Asquith received a great ovation. Lord Hugh Cecil, who was prominent in what the Liberal newspapers describe as the previous day's "Hughliganism," attempted to ask a supplementary question, but his voice was drowned amid shouts of "Divide," and "Hottentot." wrangle ensued, in the course of which Mr. Asquith characterised another member's question as insolent. Ultimately the House went into Committee of Supply.

A noteworthy feature of the afternoon was that Mr. F. E. Smith left the Front Bench for a seat next Lord Hugh Cecil below the Gangway.

A BETTER FEELING.

A better feeling is evident in the Conservative press which announces that the dinner to Lord Halsbury is in no way intended as antagonistic to Mr. Balfour or Lord Lansdowne. The Standard, which worth seeing. SUPREME COURT.

Wednesday, July 26th.

IN APPELL TE JURISDICTION. [BEFORE THE FULL COURT.]

A QUESTION OF CONTRIBUTION. Their Lordships the Chief Justice (Sir Francis Gompertz) sat to hear further argument on the appeal in the action brought by Li Po Hung against the Yik Lung Bank, Li Ling Shi, Li Po Lun, Li Po Lung and Li Po Yung to recover from the Bank $82,212,40 and interest, being $80,541,13 paid by the plaintiff to the Imperial Bank of China and balance thereof expenses incurred by plaintiff in raising the said amount on mortgage as surety for the Yik Lung Bank under a contract dated, May 20th, 1904, whereby plaintiff and the other four defendants and Li Po Chuen, who is a minor, guaranteed the repayment to the Imperial Bank of China of all sums to the extent of $150,000 as might thereafter become due to the said Bank from the Yik Lung Bank. Plaintiff claimed against the remaining four defendants as joint sureties with the plaintiff under the contract for contribution in respect of the sum of $82,212.40 paid by the plaintiff, and interest thereon. Plaintiff also claimed interest at the rate of eight dollars Newton dwells on the danger created by per cent. per annum. Judgment was delivered on March 3rd in favour of defendants, and the plaintiffs appealed that that judgment be reversed and asked that it be adjudged that the

> Hon. Mr. C. G. Alabaster, instructed by Mr. C. E. H. Beavis, of Messrs. Wilkinson & Grist, appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Eldon Potter, instructed by Mr. Hind, of Messrs. Brutton & Hett, appeared for defendants. Mr. Potter stated that at the last sitting of the Court he submitted that there was no necessity for the agreement in question to be in writing, because it did not come within the Statute of Frauds, and just before the rising of the Court he quoted a passage from Chitty on Contracts showing how a contract which need not be in writing had in fact been reduced to writing. It was important to notice that there was no substitution, as Mr. Alabaster had wished their Lordships to hold: he suggested that by reason of this further, oral agreement there was a substitution of the oraagreement for the written contract. That was not correct, slways assuming that the written contract need not be in writing. . The real contract in this case was the written contract of the 11th January, plus the subsequent verbal agreement. That contract was obviously a proper contract, and satisfied the requirements of the Statute of Frauds. Assuming that the verbal agreement could not be proved, what was the effect on the contract of the 11th January Their Lordships would find that the verbal agreement being invalid, inasmuch as it did not satisfy the Statute of Brauds, the original written contract stood.

The hearing was adjourned until to-day.

> LAWN BOWLS. ENGLAND V. SCOTLAND.

An international contest between teams representing England and Scotland-the best of three matches—was commenced at the Civil Service Green last evening. The Scottish Sir Edward Grey spent an hour in players picked up the green better than their opponents and playing consistently established good lead. When the score stood at 20 to 9 in their favour their rivals showed up to more advantage and brought their score up to 16. AN OLD CHINESE DESCRIPTION OF A FOREIGN DINNER.

A new edition of "Bits of Old China," by William C. Hunter, has just been published by Messrs. Kelly & Walsh, Ltd. The book, we believe, has long been out of print, and well worth republishing. It is full of interesting information and quaint anecdotes of the life lived by the pioneers of trade in Canton. Many readers are doubtless acquainted with the book and for the amusement of those who are not we reproduce from its pages the following part of a letter written by a Chinaman to his brother:-

To describe some of the customs of these rude barbarians would lead you to imagine that I had been culling the Tsze-put-put (1) for your edification, yet I can vouch for their accuracy, and you may judge if they deserve a place in that collection of monstrosities. Having been present at a feast in the Hong of some of these Fankwees, I must tell you something of what I saw. I could not but be struck with the little progress they have made in the art gastronomic, which with them is yet in its infancy. Shade of Low-Man-Ke (2), well art thou deserving of the red candles daily burnt on altars dedicated to thy memory! How thankful should we be to that distinguished 'Fire-Head' (3), who, in addition to the practice of his profession through a long life, bequeathed to posterity his 'Hinte on Cookery,' in 320 volumes! In our younger days, O Choo, how we pored over its pages, and with what avidity we devoured some favourite dish made from its directions.

Judge now what tastes peop le possess who sit at table and swallow bowls of a fluid, in their outlandish tongue called Soo-pe, and next devour the flesh of fish, served in a manner as near as may be to resemble the living thi itself. Dishos of half-raw meat are then placed at various angles of the table; these float in gravy, while from them pieces are cut with swordlike instruments and placed before the guests. Really it was not until I beheld this sight that I became convinced of what I had often heard that the ferocious disposition of these demons arise from their indulgence is such gross food. How lamentable their condition, and yet our dishes they pretend to despise! Think how unrefined the taste for which sharks' fine have no charm, how piteous the state of those who disdain the virtues of deer's sinews, who hold in contempt a well-prepared pup, and even sneer at a rat pie! who in the delights of an elephant's hoof served in the style of Low-Man-Ke-whose memory may be ever green-can find no gratification, while for the melting richnesss of the adorable rhinoceros horn they have no taste! To continue with these wonderful beings. Thick pieces of mest being devoured, and the scraps thrown to a multitude of snappish dogs that are allowed to twist about amongst one's logs or lie under the table, while keeping up an incessant growling and fighting, there followed a dish that set fire to our throats, called in the barbarous language of one by my side Ea Le. accompanied with rice which of itself was alone grateful to my taste. Then a green and white aubstance, the smell of which was overpowering. This I was informed was a compound of sour buffalo milk, baked in the sun, under whose influence it is allowed to remain until it becomes filled with insects, yet, the greener and more lively it is, with the more relish is it eaten. This is called the Sze, and is accompanied by the drinking of a muddy red fluid which foams up over the tops of the drinking cups, soils one's clothes, and is named Pc-Urh—think of that But no more. When will these uncivilised men become versed in the precepts of the gastronemist whom I have named, and make offerings of red candles and gilt paper on alters raised to his memory? When capable of enjoying that incomparable dish on which you and I have so often gorged, and at the mention of whose name I see tears stream from your eyes -listen! -stewed kitten? Hold! I have gone too far; thoughts of this delicacy are overpowering, and in reminding me that my own table is now being prepared, that the wine will soon be poured out. I recall that short but important sentence in the 68th volume of Low-Man-Ke, which says, Stowed kitten, with a garland of mice, should be esten hot.

MISSIONARY ON THE FASTING CURE,

"OH, I FELT SO GOOD!"

The Rev. T. F. McCrea, of the South Baptist Mission, Chefoo, writes to the N. C. Daily News as follows on the fasting oure :-

I have been urged by Dr. Hunter Corbett, Mr. Edward Evans and others who know of my remarkable recovery from the sprue by means of the fasting cure, to write up my experience for the sake of others who are suffering from the same or similar diseases. So far as I know I am the only person who has tried the absolute fast for the sprue and the results have been so beneficial that I feel it almost a duty to let others know of my cure.

It has been proved beyond $192,555.37 a doubt that one will not starve to death as long as there is a shred of fat, meat or muscle for the vital organs to feed on. A fast of two or three weeks is an experience that large numbers of 8 20,000.00 people have been through, forty to fifty days have been frequently done, and I believe the record now is held by an American, who started with over three hundred pounds and finished in fine form at the end of ninety days. Do you remember that ?—I do not. The only thing I remember is that I returned the cheques either the afternoon of the same day as I received them or the next day. But didn't you then write this letter?-I believe I did. This is your letter, isn't it?—Yes. It is dated November 28 and is addressed to the manager of the Chartered Bank of India.

Australia and China. It says:— "Dear Sir,-I beg to thank you for the two cheques Nos. 245,691 and 272,051 for $10,000 and $7,500, respectively, which I now enclose herewith. I am. dear sir. Yours faithfully, J. H. Wills."

I put in the three letters. RETURNING THE CHEQUES.

His Lordship-How do you account for that? -I put the cheques in an envelope and sent/ them to the bank. Whether I wrote or not A could not say.

How did the bank come to write that on November 28?-I could not say. But I certainly must have written that other letter. Mr. Carver—Having refreshed your memory about the letter, do not you recollect you must have had these cheques in your possession for ten days ?-I have no recollection. Supposing you did have them, what was happening to them?—To the best of my knowledge I put them into an envelope and handed them to the tamby the same day.

But did you enclose a letter !- I do not Yo Peng Hong, shroff in the Hongkong

Bank, where he has been for three years, said the Chartered Bank clearing book was kept by him. He proceeded to describe the procedure when he received a cheque. If he had not considered the $7,500 in order he would not have entered it in the book as he had done. He had examined cheques for more than two years. By Mr. Upcott-He made mistakes occasionally, and in the present instance he entered the cheque as from Willis, not Wills. This was due to much work.

Mr. R. W. Morris, sub-accountant to the Chartered Bank, said that all cheques drawn on the bank, however presented, were examined by two persons, for irregularities. Witness described the practice prevailing and said the first scrutiny of cheques was made by the ledger clerks, who examined the words. dates, whether order or bearer, and endorsements. If an irregularity was found the matter was reported to the sub-accountant, who pinned a slip to the cheque giving the reason for refasing payment. Following posting, all cheques went to the sub-accountant for further scrutiny. If they were in order the signatures | DRESSING CASES with were cancelled and the cheques were initialled. The 87,500 in question bore the initials of Mr. Ferguson, who had since left the bank, but who had had considerable experience in examining cheques. In the Chartered Bank cheques were not returned to customers; but were kept under lock and key. Witness spoke to having sent the cheques to Wills, but did not know why he wanted them. Before sending them he serutinized them, but noticed no irregularity. So far as he remembered they first knew of the erasing of "bearer" from the Hongkong Bank after they were returned by Wills. They were sent to that bank by request. MISTAKES ADMITTED.

By Mr. Upcott - He admitted that mistakes occurred, instances of which were brought to his notice. He was not prepared to swear that on the $7,500 cheque the word "bearer" was not crossed out before it was sent to Wills The b nk would assume that customers would not tamper with cheques. Possibly there would be less scrutiny in the case of a cheque requisitioned by a customer than with one posted from the collecting bank.

Tan Kim Bee, ledger-keeper to the Chartered examined the 87.500 cheque and posted it in the ledger. If it had not been in order he would have returned it. In cross-examination, he admitted that in one particular cheque a mistake had been made by another clerk was on "ring" duty that day. He do not require a parent ship, as they are based closing hours and when that was finished he was at liberty to leave work.

The case had not concluded when the last mail

THE BRITISH NAVY ON THE CHINA STATION.

In the House of Commons on the 4th inst.. Mr. Pretyman (Essex, Chelmsford, Opp.) asked the First Lord of the Admiralty if he would state the dates at which the seven torpedoboat destroyers now on the China Station were built: whether they were now fit for sea and capable of doing the work which would be required of them in war; and whether any parent ship was provided for this flotillo. Mr. McKenna (Monmonth, N.)-The seven destroyers on the China Station were completed in the following years :- Handy and Janus in 1895. Hart in 1896. Fame, Virago, and Whiting in 1897, Otter in 1900. The Handy, and Janus are ordered to be relieved shortly by three of the River class, and consequently no further sums will be expended on their repairs. All except the Handy and Hart are fit for sea and capable of on the dockvard. In reply to further questions,

Mr. McKenna said that a parent ship was not necessary for the service that destroyers were called upon to perform on the China Stations. The destroyers were not of an old or condemned class, and it was not the fact that the Germans replaced their destroyers every 12. years, although statements to that effect had frequently been made in debate. It might be Sir Joseph Ward, M.A.P. says, relates the case in individual ships, and he had already

RUMOURED ENGAGEMENT OF THE PRIMA DONNA.

It is rumoured that Mme. Emma Eames, the celebrated prima donus of the Metropolitan Opera House, has become engaged to another singer in New York, Signor Gorgorza. Mme. Eames, who was born in Shanghai in 1867, of American parents, made her début at the Paris Opéra in 1889. She first appeared? at Covent Garden in 1891, when she sang the part of Marguerite in "Faust," and has since constantly been appearing in either New York or the British capital,

THE BIRKBECK, BANK.

The Birkbeck Bank formed no part of the original scheme of Dr. Birkbeck, the philanthropic founder of Mechanics Institutes. His idea was to uplift the mechanics or artisans of his time by means of books, classes, lectures, and intelligent recreation.

THE POPULATION OF PARIS.

The census taken on March 5 gives the population of Paris—that of the city limited by the fortifications—as 2,847,000 in round figures, this being an increase of a trifle over 124,000 since the census of 1906, due mainly to the immigration of provincials and foreigners.

A MISCHIEVOUS RUMOUE.

A mischievous rumour is going the rounds that plague has broken out again in Manchuria. The rumour is utterly without foundation and is no doubt due to the news that an epidemic among marmots has broken out in Siberia. The principal duty China has on hand is, it seems, the prevention of the spread of the plague into her territory from Russia.

"TO SEE THE CORONATION.

Dr. Fitchett, the well-known Australian. minister and author, to a correspondent of the Christian World has been giving some particulars of the present conditions of life and labour in Australia. He stated that on the Orvicto, in which he travelled to England, there were 633 third-class passengers, most of them working men coming here for a holiday. Asking some of them why they were making the voyage, he received the answer, "To see the Coronation."

A GRANDFATHER'S CLOCK.

A grandfather's clock which for many years has stood in the vestry at St. Paul's Cathedral recently broke down and was sent to a clockmaker to be repaired. The clockmaker detected a faint gleam of yellow below the black paint on the case, and, commencing to remove the covering, he brought to light a specimen of exquisite inlaid marquetry work. The clock is now on view in the home representing the William and Mary and Queen Appe period at the "House and Home Exhibition" at the Whitechapel Art Gallery.

THE CLOSURE AMONG SAVAGES. The untutored mind of the Indian, or the savage, often appears strange to up, but there is sometimes reason in what at first sight seems eccentric. A South African tribe, we read in a Paris contemporary, has an effectual method of dealing with bores, which might be adopted by Western peoples. This simple tribe considers long speeches injurious, both to the orator and his hearers; so to protect both, there is an unwritten law that every public orator must stand on one leg only when he is addressing an audience. As soon as he has to place the other leg on the ground his cration is brought to a close.

BTINGING TREES.

In the southern part of Formosa grows a tree, about 10ft, in height, having long leaves which possess the property of the nettle, and produce a maddening irritation of the sain when incautionaly touched. The natives call it chica-jen-kou, meaning man-biting-dog Mr. Tokutaro Ito, of Tokyo, who has recently made a botanical exploration in Formosa, suggests the name "viper tree" as a more distinctly warning title. There is another species of "stinging tree" in Australia, which attains a height of 15ft., and the effect of whose touch appears to be even more maddening to men and animals. Horses stung by it have to be shot, and dogs, when affected by the roison of the leaves, run about, whining and biting themselves.

GERMAN NOBLES SENT TO PRISON. The trials of Count Guenther von Koenigsmarck, the two Barons von Arnim, and th moneylenders Leonbardt and Domarus for sxtensive land frauds, and of Baron von Schenk zu Schweinsberg and a Hungarian officer named Thibolth for cheating at cards and other offences, have resulted in the conviction of all the accused. Count von Koenigsmarck, a member of an historic Prussian family, has been sentenced to four months' imprisonment, and the two moneylenders to ninear done month respectively. The brother Barons von Arnim escaped with small fines. Baron von Schenk has been sentsuced to two years' imprisonment and a fine of £300, while his friend the Hungarian officer received one year's imprisonment and a fine of £30. In the case of Baron von Schenk, the Court regretted that it could only impose the maximum sentence of two years' imprisonment. Both the baron and Thibolth were sentenced in addition to five years' loss of honour.

· A MISSING BRIDE.

The marriage of Lady Constance Blanche Alethen Mary Foljambe, half-sister of the Earl of Liverpool, and the Rev. H. A. K. Hawkins, vicar of Whitwell-on-the-Hill, York, did not take place at St. Peter's, Eaton square, on the 4th inst., as had been arranged, owing to the failure of the bride to attend the church. The wedding was fixed for 2 o'clock, and by that hour the guest's had assembled and the clergyman the Rev. the Hon. Reginald Adderley, who was to have officiated, was present, and the bridegroom with his best man was waiting in the vestry. The church-had been decorated for the coremony, and the four bridesmaids, dressed in their wedding frocks of sprigged muslin, were ready to attend the bride. At half-past 2 o'clock a message was sent to Lord Liverpool, who replied that his sister had gone shopping in the morning and had not returned. The guests remained at the church until 3 o'clock, after which it was no longer possible, according to the law, to perform the ceremony, and they were then asked to leave. It is stated that Lady Constance Foljambe left her brother's house in Grosvenor-gardens at 12 o'clock alone. She was expected back in time to dress for the wedding, but did not arrive, and Lord Liverpool was waiting to take her to the church. When she did not appear the family grew are described by Mr. E. A STORY AGAINST MR. LLOYD GEORGE.

'A jeke on the Chancellor of the Exchequer is going the round of the London Clubs, says the Globe in a recent issue. An Arctic explorer recently approached him with a view to obtaining Treasury assistance for an expedition he had planned. Mr. Lloyd George replied that the proper course for the applicant to adopt was Mr D.E. Clark first to obtain help from outside bodies of Mr N K. David citizens, such as the Stock Exchange, and then Mr C. Dawson to apply, if necessary, to the Government.

The explorer withdrew, but was quickly back in the Chancellor's office. "Have you been successful?" asked Mr

Lloyd George. "Partly so," replied the explorer. "How much money have you got from the Stock Exchange?"

"Only £50," came the answer, "but with the Mr D. M. G. Gratama prospect of a great deal more on conditions which require the co-operation of the Chancellor | Capt. T. P. Hall of the Exchequer." "What are the conditions?

"There were two," said the traveller. "One was that they would make it £25,000 Mr & Mrs Holmes I took you with me to the Pole, and £50,000 it Capt. P. Huist

Naminga than they were six months ago, says a Washing. Mr H. Parkhill ton correspondent writing on the 4th inst. At the beginning of the year there was much uncertainty and nervousness owing to the pending "Trust" decisions in the Supreme Court, Mrs F. Acton and Maid and an application was made by the railways to the Inter-State Commerce Commission to be permitted to advance their freight rates. This the commission refused, but the bankruptcy which | the railways declared would follow is not yet imminent. The Supreme Court decisions in the "Trust" cases have not brought general demoralisation to the business world, and the fears entertained at the beginning of the year Mr J. Graham

"LOVED" 42 WOMEN

JUDGE ON WORLD'S BIGGEST SCOUNDERS. "I do not think the earth contains another such scoundrel as the prisoner," said Judge Rentoul recently at the Old Bailey at the conclusion of the trial of "George William Lucid, alias Leslie," for obtaining money from women whom he had promised to marry, and for committing bigamy with Ethel Selfe at a Brighton registry office. 🧀 said that there was a great mystery con-

In defence to the charge of bigamy prisoner nected with his married life which he did not want to speak about. It was of a delicate character. As a matter of fact, the marriage with Miss Selfe was velid. It was (rue, as the police said, that he had previously married a Mys. Ransome, but at that time he had a wife alive. That wife died, but the alliance between himself and Mrs. Ransome was, of course, invalid, and therefore his marriage with Miss Selfe was legal.

"Miss Braddon has used that plot 11 times in her novels," commented the judge.

After prisoner had been found guilty, counsel said he could tell the Court something about the delicate domestic relations the prisoner had spoken about. It was true that the prisoner married Mrs. Ransome-and from her he got £1,500. When the money was gone be left the woman. At the prisoner's lodging 2 700 letters from different women were found, in most of which sums of money were mentioned. The letters showed that he had received £285 from the women, in addition to sums the amount of which was not definitely stated in the letters. In 1909 prisoner was communicating with 23 different women, in the following year 35, and this year 42. Since prisoner had been arrested a letter from au illiterate person had been sent to the prisoner's lodging containing two £5

A previous conviction of seven years' penal servitude, passed at Reading, was proved against the prisoner. This he denied, but the police said they were certain, for his Ruger-prints were

"LOWEST DEPTH OF DEPRAVITY." Inspector Tapenden said the prisoner's name was Patrick Morav, and he was the son of a well-to-do Tipperary farmer. He joined an Irish regiment, and married at Devenport in 1889, but eventually deserted his wife, leaving her with two children.

In 1892, when in the Berkshire Regiment, he was sentenced to seven years' penal servitude for stealing postal orders. When accused of the theft he tried to put the blame on his fellow officers. His wife died while he was in prison. The officer added that prisoner, between his release on ticket-of-leave in 1898 and 1906, when he again married, obtained £1,100 from ten different women under promises of marriage. and in 1907 he married a well-to-do Bristol lady. This was a second bigamy, of which the Court had not heard. Some frauds of his also led to the closing of a Catholic Sailors' Home at I lymouth.

"Are you a Catholic?" asked the judge of the prisoner, and the man replied, "I do not wish to give any details." "The reason I ask," explained his lordship, is that when an Irish Catholic, whose attachment to his religion is so well known, commits a fraud on his religious body, he has reached the lowest depth of human depravity."

Judge Rentoul referred to the "heartless and cold-blooded character" of the frauds, and sentenced prisoner to seven years' penal servitude. "I have hopes," added the judge, "that the suffragettes will change the law and make such crimes a flogging offence, without giving the judge any option.

"You will hear more of this," exclaimed the prisoner, as he was taken from the dock.

CRUISERS AND BRITAIN'S FOOD SUPPLY.

Mr. Robert Yerburgh has circulated the following statement with regard to the need for more cruisers :-

Now that the Naval Prize Bill has passed the second reading in the Commons the time has come when the public should realize the gravity of the situation. The continuous arrival of our food supply, of which there is never a sufficient reserve in the country, will depend in time of war upon the adequate protection of our trade routes. The following facts speak for themselves, and they must suggest to | Thistle, gunboat, 710 tons, 900 h.p., Lieut. every one the enormous task which a naval war will impose upon the Fleet.

APPROXIMATE LENGTH OF OCEAN TRADE

(1) Black Sea to British Isles ... (2) Bombay to Port Said Hongkong to Aden (4) New Zealand to Colombo, via Sydney 6,000 New Zealand to Cape of Good Hope 7,000 (6) New Zealand to Montevideo (7) Cape of Good Hope to British Isles 6,0:0 (8) Montevideo to British Isles (The full distance is 6,000 miles, but one half is covered by the Cape to British Isles) (9) West Indies to British Isles (10 New York to British Isles (411) Quebec to British Isles ... (12) San Francisco to Cape Horn - In this table no account is taken of the routes between San Francisco and New Zealand, and 1.00 Vancouver and New Zealand, which are each roughly 6,00) miles. The figures given refer entirely to the main ocean trade routes over which food and raw materials are conveyed to the British Isles, and no route is included twice in them. They take no account of the coastal trade carried on in the various parts of the Empire. Over this 54,000 miles of ocean all our raw materials and £250,000,000 worth per annum of imported food, together with all our exports are conveyed, amounting to a total annual seaborne trade of some £1,400,000,000.

At the present time, according to the Dilke Return, we have built and building 34 armoured cruisers (exclusive of cruiser battleships), the following protected cruisers: 17 first class (7,530-14,200 tone); 42 second. (3,600-5,700 tons); and 16 third class (2,000-3,000 tons); and six unprotected cruisers. giving a total of 115 in all. Of these it must be remembered a considerable number will, in all probability, be required for service with the battle floets and therefore will not be available for commerce protection. And further, as Sir William White points out in the Nineteenth Century for July, "More than 20 of these vessels were built under the Naval Defence Act of 1889 and have passed the German age limit" (15 years), Falthough still capable of service. Nearly as many more, not built under the Act 0.75 of 1889, have also passed that age limit; only six were launched in or after 1903." Such being the position, is it not the plain duty of the Government in the interests of the Empire to make immediate and considerable addition to

INTIMATION

COMMERCE owes its growth to the steamship, the railroad and the REMINGTON TYPEWRITER. The time and labour it saves, the volume of work it does, and the opportunities it affords, combine to place the Remington Typewriter in the front rank of business builders.

It was years ago universally pronounced to be the cheapest work of the kind anywhere published, and although very much enlarged and improved in every way, the price in silver is now below the equivalent of £1 5s, at which it was originally published.

It is published at the Office of the Hongkong Daily Press, and can be had from, and Advertisements sent through, the principal Booksellers in Asia and through :-

MOVEMENT OF THE DAY CAME INTO BEING.

BY PERCY W. EVERETT, M.A., F.S.S.

The writer, who is Director of Messrs. C. Arthur Pearson, Limited, has been associated with the organisation of the Boy Scont movement from its start in this country in 1907. highest over the Pacific in the neighbourhood Only those behind the scenes know of the enormous amount of work he has done through the past four years in the cause of training our boys to be good citizens and manly, self-reliant patriots. The public part he has played has been that of County Commissioner for Hertfordshire and Middlesex counties now models of Scouting organisation.] To-day is a kind of coronation-day for the

The King was proclaimed king of the movement when he graciously became the Boy Scouts' patron. To-day, at Windsor, when he comes face to face with a small contingent, numbering he puts the crown on the work of the part four years, a work which we are entitled to call the

On the eve of the royal rally which for the last six months has been the chief thought of the Boy Scouts of the world one looks Kwongsang, British str., 1,956, W. F. Richard, back with wonderful pleasure over the short, stirring history of the movement, a history composed of equal parts of romance and

THE BEGINNING.

The story begins in Africa-in Mafeking in 1899-1900. In that lonely townlet in the faraway veldt there were a thousand white men. six hundred women and children, seven thousand MANDASAN MARU, Japanese str., 3,246, T. natives-and "B. P." The advance lines ran five miles round; Boer shells were flying, bombs bursting in the town, red-hot work was going Garlick, 22nd July-Seattle 19th June on. Many of the defenders were out of action and Manila 20th July, General-Nippon in the hospitals; every man's value was that of three men, and a boy was as good as a man i

Lord Edward Cecil, chief of the staff, and son of the great Lord Salisbury, was inspired t take the boys in hand, to drill them and dres them in uniform, teaching them to act as orderlies SEXTA. German str., 972. Jensen, 22nd July- They went about on biogeles, carrying their de spatches, often enough, through arain of bullet One day one rode through rather a heavy fire bring a message to "B. P.," who said to hin "You will get hit one of these days, riding like that when the shells are flying." The bo answered, "I pedal so rapidly, sir, they would never catch me."

These were the first of the Boy Scouts. The 24th July-Moji 18th July, Coal-Gilman tell a story which has never before been publish

In the early summer of 1907 Sir Robert Baden 24th July-Portland via Nagasaki 9th July. | Powell was staying with my friend, Mr. C. Arthu General. Flour and Timber-P. M. S.S. Co. | Pearson, at his country place in Surrey. Sir Rob wa, 23rd July-Swatow 22nd July, Genera | for training boys to follow in the footsteps o the knights of old, of the Elizabethan adven Sur Sang, British str., 1,960, M. Picknell, 21st | turers, and of latter-day frontiersmen and ex July-Moji 15th July, Coal-Jardine, plorers-training them to be chivalrous, sel reliant men of character and peace scouts, pioneers of civilisation. He was looking ju then for a man with exactly the right sort influence to help him launch his scheme, interes the great public, and draw into his net th 18th July-San Francisco 21st June, right type of organisers to work the ship o which he would stand at the helm.

There was a house party—the guests wer amusing themselves as people do in the country but the host was preparing to slip away. S Robert strolled up beside his waiting motor-car. "Where are you off to, Pearson?"

"Oh, I am just running over to see a children's cripple home in which I am much inter-July-Wuhu 15th July, Coal-Batterfield ested. I dare say it would not interest you." And the car slid off down the drive. "B. P." was left thinking.

LOVER OF CHILDREN.

What he thought was: "Here is my man lover of children, a famous organiser, a great newspaper proprietor-he will know how I should man and launch my ship."

I always look back on that little incident as one of the great landmarks of Scouting in this as it was the direct cause of my joining the The I.G.M. str. Prinz Waldemar left Manila movement in its initial stage and essisting in on the 26th inst., at 1 p.m., and may expected the arrangements for giving the scheme to the world through the handbook, published in parts The I.G.M. str. Prins Eitel Friedrich, which | during the winter of 1907-8. "Scouting for left here on the 28th ult, at noon, arrived at Boys," and the founding of the Scouts' own organ, "The Scout," in April, 1908.

I remember the first experimental camp in 1907 at Brownsea Island, under the active management of Major Maclaren. General Baden-Powell's idea was to test by practice how British boys of all classes would take to scouting. The of the result exceeded his highest expectations.

THE FIRST DISPLAY

On Wimbledon Common was given the first public exhibition of scouting, when Mr. W. P. Adams, the present District Commissioner for South-West London, with his Putney troop, and Captain Pearse, with his Hampstead troop, gave a series of illuminating displays, which set blazing the fire of public enthusiasm.

In 1908 there was a camp on a larger scale at Humshaugh, in Northumberland, where Scouts, now in uniform, were in proper patrol formation. went scouting about the country, and at night gathered round the camp fire to hear the Chief Scout tell his yarns. That camp will never be forgotten by those who were privileged to be present.

Among many great events in our crowded early history I can only mention two more—the great rally at the Crystal Palace in September, 1909, when the Chief Scout read to 13,000 pioneer Scouts the message from King Edward; and October 3, 1909, the day on which King Edward still On the Day Preceding the Departure of the further honoured the Scout Movement by conforring a kni. hthood upon its chief

We have now passed from the period when every boy or man who were a scout hat was ridiculed, to a period when the Scout has, by his resource, cheeriness, and quiet, manly bearing, won the respect of all.

The King is our patron. Among the members of the council are Lord Alversione, Lord Charles Beresford, the Archbishop of Canterbury, Lord Esher, Earl Grey, the Rev. C. Silvester Horne, Lord Kitchener, the Rev. and Hon. E. Lyttelton, Lord Roberts, Lord Rosebery, and many other eminent British citizens representing every shade of thought, and there is a strong executive committee, with the Chief Scout at their head, elected by this council. responsible for the actual management of the movement.—Daily Express.
